COURSE DESCRIPTION

The focus of this course will be upon the use of instrumentation in the assessment and management of pediatric dysphagia. Protocols for the use and interpretation of Fiberoptic Endoscopic Evaluation of Swallowing (FEES) and videofluoroscopic evaluation of swallowing (VSS) will be presented. The application of other diagnostic measures such as impedance and manometry will be presented.

LEARNER OUTCOMES

Upon completion of this seminar, the participants will be able to:

- Describe the protocols used in pediatric fiberoptic endoscopic and videofluoroscopic swallowing assessments and the application of each study in special populations such as the neonatal intensive care unit.
- Describe the equipment components needed for instrumental assessment of FEES
- Identify clinical indications for instrumental assessments of swallowing.
- Explain how to implement the use of pediatric FEES in the clinical setting,
- Discuss the effects of chronic aspiration on overall pulmonary status.
- Differentiate advantages and disadvantages associated with instrumental assessments of swallowing.
- Discuss the range of instrumental assessments available for evaluation of pediatric dysphagia.
- Describe available methodology for assessment of aspiration.
- Recognize and identify anatomical landmarks and key structures in the upper aerodigestive tract.
